

MOONLIGHT ART STUDIOS by Ainura Barron

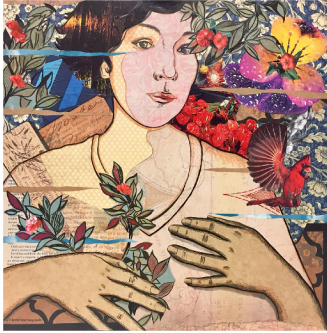

ART CLASSES

for learning, art making, drawing, painting and more.

Drawing classes

Are you interested in drawing from observation and explore graphite and charcoal techniques? I will introduce you to these simple and the same time very versatile materials and you will be able to explore the world of drawing.

In this class you will strengthen your ability to translate what you see in the three-dimensional world around you onto a two-dimensional surface. Working from still life, interior and architecture spaces in a variety of media, you will engage in problems designed to strengthen your perceptual skills.

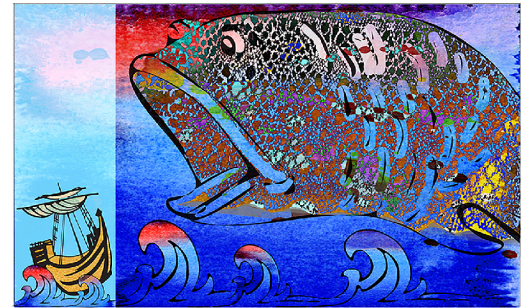

Collage and Mixed Media

Whether you're new to the mixed media and collage or you're an experienced painter, this course will set you down a path of wonderful exploration as you create, practice, and play with this exciting technique.

Art School for Young Creatives

A great fun course in art history for children from 7 to 14 years old! But if adults are interested, they are more than welcome to join this course.

It focuses on the main periods and styles in art from the Stone Age to the first half of the 20th century. Each lesson is a story about one of the significant stages in the development of art and an exciting task to consolidate the material. Some of the classes will be referred to the masterpieces from St. Louis Art Museum, so the parents could take their kids to see the real artworks in person.
